WHAT IS TEQUILA ANYWAY?

Tequila is a Mexican distillate from the Agave plant. By law, in order to be called tequila, at least 51% of the material must be from the Agave plant, and the rest (water, sugar, oil, gasoline etc.) can be added at the discretion of the distiller. This is one reason why "100% agave" is a good thing to look for on the label.

TEQUILA SILVER - BLANCO

This is the Blue Agave spirit in its purest form. It is clear and typically un-aged, where the true flavours and the intensity of the agave are present, as well as the natural sweetness. It can be bottled directly after distillation or stored in stainless steel tanks to settle for up to 4 weeks. There are some blanco products that are aged for up to 2 months to provide a smoother or "suave" spirit.

TEQUILA REPOSADO

A Reposado tequila is the first stage of "rested and aged". The tequila is aged in wooden barrels or storage tanks between 2 months and 11 months. The spirit takes on a golden hue and the taste becomes a good balance between the agave and wood flavours. Many different types of wood barrels are used for aging, with the most common being American or French oak. Some tequilas are aged in used bourbon/whiskey, cognac or wine barrels and will inherit unique flavours from the previous spirit.

TEQUILA ANEJO 'AGED'

After aging for at least one year, tequila can then be classified as an "Anejo". The distillers are required to age Anejo tequila in barrels that do not exceed 600 litres. This aging process darkens the tequila to an amber colour and the flavour can become smoother, richer and more complex.

TEQUILA AGAVERO

Is a liqueur created from a blend of 100% Blue Agave Anejo and Reposado tequilas hand blended with the essence of Damiana, a flower indigenous to the mountains of Jalisco.

MEZCAL - THE WORM

Mezcal, or Mescal, is a distilled alcoholic beverage made from the Maguey plant (a form of agave, Agave Americana) native to Mexico. The word Mezcal comes from Nahuatl Metl and Ixcalli which means "oven cooked Agave". Certain Mezcals, usually from the state of Oaxaca, are sold con gusano, a practice that began as a marketing gimmick in the 1940s. The worm is actually the larval form of the moth Hypopta Agavis that lives on the Agave plant. In Mexico, Mezcal is generally drunk straight, not mixed in a cocktail.

HOW TO DRINK TEQUILA

There are a couple of rituals associated with drinking Tequila. One is saying "Arriba, abajo, al centro y pa 'dentro", (up, down, centre and in) before the first shot. The other involves spilling a small portion onto the ground as an offering to the Mayahuel, the goddess of Maguey and the fertility of the earth (we don't encourage this!!!!). While Tequila is generally not mixed with any other liquids, some add salt, or eat lime or lemon slices with it.
